The Invisible Carer

1 in 8 adults are carers in the UK. 6.5 million in total. Half a million of those are from Black, Asian and other ethnic minority backgrounds. Muchag writes about her experience being a carer for her parents from a young age into adulthood and the barriers to accessing healthcare support for them.

Sexual Health service access barriers for QPOC

- A misunderstanding that SH services are not free
- Concerns SH services will report men to immigration services
- A failure to understand service information due to services not being available in multi-languages
- Men from some minority ethnic groups are unaware of or are not accessing sexual health services because of cultural or religious barriers, including perceptions of racism or homophobia.

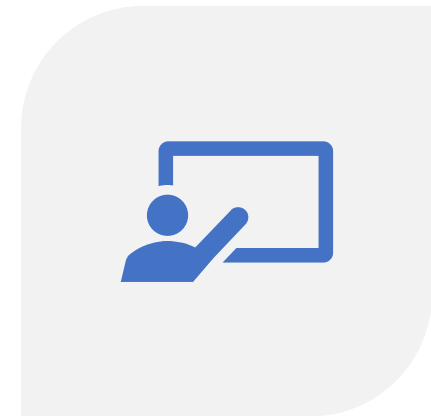

The MAUREEN Project

PHASE ONE: GENERATING
COMMUNITY KNOWLEDGE

PHASE TWO: CO-PRODUCTION OF
HEALTH PROMOTION
INTERVENTIONS

PHASE THREE: MENTORING +
LEGACY

MAUREEN Project outcomes

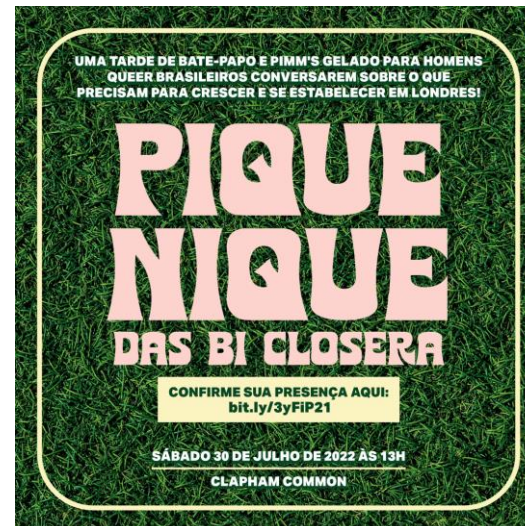

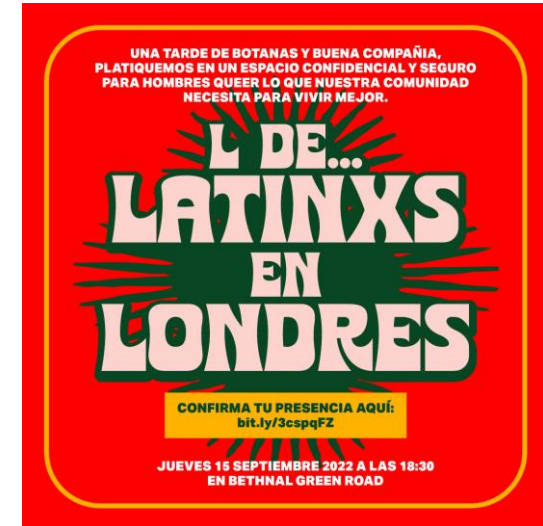

An increase in knowledge of MSM's sexual health service needs as undertaken via community-based knowledge generation.

An increase in community and culturally competent health promotion materials and information as undertaken via a community co-production process.

A planned and desired increase in service level uptake as measured through SHL's service level data.

An increase in community member's skills and knowledge to undertaken HIV and sexual health promotion, thereby leaving a programme legacy
